National Training Scheme for the use of

Radioiodine in Benign Thyroid Disease

Wednesday 26th May 2010 – 10.00 am to 4.00 pm

Held in the Postgraduate Centre,
Queen Elizabeth Hospital Birmingham

This new one day course represents an essential component of the new national training scheme aiming to allow application for ARSAC certification for iodine-131 administration for the treatment of benign thyroid disease. The other components of training, upon which guidance will be given and log books provided, will be locally arranged and mentored experience of clinical cases, as well as medical physics experience. This training programme will be appropriate for established thyroid specialists and SpRs nearing CCT.

The full programme will be available upon registration and will be recognised for CPD accreditation. The programme will comprise sessions on medical physics, radiation protection and clinical case scenarios and will give an overview of the newly updated RCP National Guidelines on the Use of Radioiodine in the Management of Benign Thyroid Disease.

We hope you will take advantage of this new opportunity and look forward to seeing you.
